Q_fulfill

How can I get insight into our fulfillment process and be assured we are meeting deadlines with communications that are in compliance? How do I know that our materials are in stock and being used efficiently?

With Quantum's Q_fulfill, we can provide added visibility and support for all of your marketing and communications initiatives. Whether you are in a regulated environment where version control, compliance requirements and tracking are required, or you need execution support for complex direct marketing campaigns, from setup through delivery, Quantum can help. From printing and organizing multiple marketing pieces, to kitting and hybrid fulfillment, you can be sure your inventory is being managed efficiently and effectively with Q_fulfill.

Q_fulfill's technology platform will provide robust, real-time reporting for your management review and assessment. The customizable reports give you a window into the central processing of your marketing implementation efforts — the tracking of your orders (quantities ordered, monthly use and more) as well as the movement of your marketing materials. Q_fulfill is an easy-to-use tool that will give you peace of mind that your materials are being printed, distributed and managed securely — executed precisely according to plan. And, it helps you plan for the future so your marketing dollars are being spent wisely and effectively, by reducing waste and obsolescence

“We manage a myriad of marketing initiatives for many clients — each with their own requirements and deadlines. Quantum's technology has made it easy for us to monitor each project and keep our clients informed. I can't believe we used to do this without Q_fulfill — it has streamlined our process considerably and saves us both time and money.”
